

WHY SHOULD WE CONSIDER AN LED SCREEN IN CHURCH?

Why LED?

So you've heard the LED screens can be great for church, but you're not sure why you should consider one, read on to find out!

Many forward thinking venues and churches have purchased LED screens as their main displays. They are an excellent communication tool, ensuring everybody can clearly understand and see what is going on, along with low operating and maintenance costs.

So what are the main reasons we should consider one?

An LED screen is really bright. In a church environment this is exceptionally helpful. Gone are the days of having to pull down blinds over all of your windows so you can see the projection screen, or dimming all of the lighting! Because it's so easy and clear to read, it becomes much more engaging. A real benefit when trying to communicate an important message.

They last for 10+ yrs or more. We have LED panels that we've been testing to simulate long life tests. We're glad to say that Clearview LED screens are a wise long life investment. This makes all the difference when looking at pricing. For example a typical 5m projection screen, once you've factored in replacements, new bulbs, and maintenance is actually the same cost as an LED screen over a 6 year period. If you're planning to use a screen for a long time, why not have the benefit of the best technology.

They're modular. You can reconfigure the screens into any size or shape you like, and even split them into smaller ones or join two of them into one massive screen. This is great for a versatile church space, that needs to cope with so many different services and events. Or if you need to setup in different venues each week.

It's so compact you can stand in front of it. One of the greatest benefits of an LED screen is that they are slim. Most of our screen systems are only 75mm thick, and with no projection shining on the surface, there are no cast shadows or long throw lenses needed.
